

Scenario 1: A student in your class is alone at recess. They are crying. When you ask them what is wrong, they tell you that their friend has been sending unkind messages about them to everyone.

Scenario 2: You are in a social media group chat. In the group, you see that someone has posted a message about how much they hate another student at the school, who is not in the group.

Scenario 3: You are playing a game at recess/lunch. Another student comes over and wants to join in but one of the other players tells them they can't play with them.
